INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY FOR BIPOLAR DISORDERS

BOWDEN MASSEY STRATEGIC RESEARCH INITIATIVE IN BIPOLAR DISORDER

Application Checklist

Before you submit the application package, please review the following list to ensure that you have attached all required materials in the prescribed format.

- ☐ Complete the online application form
- ☐ Prepare single PDF file with the following items:
 - 5-page maximum proposal
 - 1-page budget overview
 - 4-page NIH style Biosketch for the Administrative and other Principle Investigators
 - 1-page list of references

Note: applications should include the following headings: scientific problem, hypotheses, study plan; background; specific aims; preliminary results (if available); methods; key investigators and roles; scientific significance, potential impact for patients, and future research directions.

The PDF document should be submitted electronically with the online application form and should have 1" margins and no smaller than 11" font. Pages should be numbered and include the Administrative Principle Investigator's name in the upper right-hand corner and a short title in the upper left-hand corner.

Upon submission of the application you will be redirected to a page confirming your submission. You will then receive an email confirmation once the ISBD staff verifies that all application materials have been received.

Any questions in regard to the RFA should be directed to Chad Daversa, ISBD Executive Director, at chadd@isbd.org.
